Remarkable Death.

KEOKUK (Ia.), March 12.—About nine o'clock last night the family of Mr. John J. Rail, living two miles east of this city, was thrown into intense excitement and despair by the sudden death of an only daughter, Miss Minnie Rail, sixteen years of age. The young lady was in the parlor at the time in company with Charles Gray, her affianced. It seems, from the statement of of Mr. Gray, which was given with broken sobs and tears, that the two were seated on a lounge and he was urging her to name an early day for their marriage. The girl was coy and bashful, and hesitated about it. But the lover was importunate, and sought in every way to induce a compliance with his wishes. At last she consented, saying:

"I will marry you in April."

In the excitement and joy of the moment Mr. Gray threw his arms around her waist and drew her to him with a quick, passionate embrace. He was not conscious of exerting unusual strength and does not believe that he did. But the girl gave a short, sharp scream, and exclaiming, "Oh, Charley, I'm gone!" fell dead in his arms, her head resting on his shoulder. His frantic cries alarmed the family, who came rushing into the room to find the pitiful sight of the dead girl lying pale and inanimate in her lover's arms. A messenger was dispatched post haste for Dr. Hale, who arrived within an hour. But nothing could be done. The young lady was beyond all human aid. It is the opinion of the physician that heart disease was the immediate cause of the girl's death. She was frail and delicate and had long complained of trouble with her heart. The excitement incident to the conversation with her lover had probably superinduced the attack which led to her premature death. Naturally the family are overwhelmed with grief, and young Gray is also beside himself with horror and despair. Miss Minnie was a very handsome young lady, and was well known in the society circles of this city. She was extremely delicate and possessed a slender frame, which succumbed to the slightest attacks of ill health.

Gladstone in Parliament.

To watch him in the House for half an hour or so is to get a very fair insight into his temperament. His colleagues or friends will come up to him one after another to ask a question or seek advice; he will read papers and letters without end, scribble a hundred notes on the crown of his hat, make memoranda in reply to some speech that is being delivered, receive and reply to telegrams and send off verbal messengers—and all with a quick, nervous manner which would seem sufficient in itself to exhaust any frame. There are times, indeed, when Mr. Gladstone has the look of a man whose forces are nearly spent. His heavily lined and hollow cheeks are of a deathly paleness, and a stranger meeting him suddenly might almost take him for a ghost but for the bright, glittering eyes which no one who ever looks upon that remarkable countenance will ever be likely to forget. Mr. Gladstone's eyes and Mr. Gladstone's voice are quite unlike the eyes and voice of any other man to be met with in this world. The voice, unluckily, seems to be breaking fast. The immense amount of open-air speaking which was done during the Midlothian campaign must have had some effect upon it, and of late the change has been very marked. It was certainly the most musical voice I ever heard. Sir Julius Benedict once said to me, as we were listening to Mr. Gladstone delivering a speech, "Do you know how it is that he speaks so well as that? Because he has studied music and was a beautiful singer." "A singer?" "Yes, truly—I have heard him sing the sweetest tenor one could wish to hear anywhere. Oh, it is to my art that he owes much of his eloquence, I can tell you." But the finest voice will wear out and Mr. Gladstone has not allowed his to rust out. Not by any possibility could he have made a more lavish use of the gift which fell to his lot when the fairies were over his cradle; whether he has always used it wisely and well the historian will perhaps be able to decide better than his contemporaries. I think it is Lord Houghton who says that Mr. Gladstone's voice exactly resembles that of William Pitt—so he has been assured by those who well remember hearing Pitt in his palmy days. At any rate there is no one who has a voice like it.

English Mail.

The Earl of Perth and Melfort, having established his claim in France to the titles of Duc de Melfort, Comte de Lussan, and Baron de Valrose, has ruined himself in vain attempts to recover the property going with the titles.

A large block of property in Leadenhall-street, London, is to be forthwith cleared for building purposes. Readers of "Dombey and Son" will regret the consequent disappearance of the Little Wooden Midshipman, inseparably associated with Sol Gills and Captain Cuttle.

Miss Isabella Bird, who travelled through Japan, and published her impressions in a book recently, is about to be married to Dr. Bishop, an Edinburgh physician. The lady is frail looking and very small. The wonder is that she had courage enough to explore the inhospitable regions of a country like Japan.

The Rajah of Rampoor appeared at Queen Victoria's recent levee in a curious costume—a compromise between the East and the West. While his extremities were incased in the black dress trousers and patent leather boots of what we term civilization, the upper part of his body was draped in rich Cashmere shawling, which hung about his shoulders in graceful festoons, while at the same time it formed a sort of Highland jacket fastened down the chest with gold buttons; his head-dress consisted of a plain gold forage-cap.

It is said of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, that she would have been married long before she was if it had not been for the influence of Mrs. Brown, her companion, but now deceased. Mr. Bartlett would not then have been the happy man. A correspondent adds: "Once there was a rumour that the Duke of Wellington was going to marry her. It arose out of his grace saying to some one she ought to be a duchess. Reported to Miss Burdett-Coutts, (not then elevated to the peerage,) she remarked: 'Tell the Duke he cannot make me a Duchess.'"

Many of the tenantry on the Marquis of Downshire's Blessington estates, who recently met and refused to pay more than Griffiths' valuation, have paid their rents. The remainder will soon follow their example.

Lord Beaconsfield, according to report, is busying himself with another new novel, of which some portion is already in print, though the conclusion, if not the third volume, has yet to be written. His lordship receives the proofs of one chapter while he writes the succeeding one.

W. H. Mallock asks in the Nineteenth Century:—Does anyone mean to say that the English nation, as a whole, has not a profound and passionate reverence for home and the marriage ties? Why, even the collier who kicks his wife would prevent another from kicking her, and would resent still more another man making love to her.

Lord Spencer lately gave a dinner to the Prince and Princess of Wales, at which the floral decorations on the dining-table and other parts of the room were composed entirely of snowdrops and a few fronds of fern. Nearly ten thousand flowers were used, gathered chiefly in the fruit orchards of Somersetshire and Wiltshire, where they grow in the greatest profusion. In the waxlight the effect of the decorations was extremely soft and chaste.

A HARTFORD man sent a pair of trowsers to his tailor to be repaired. The tailor found $300 in a roll in his pocket and returned it, receiving the thanks of the owner therefor. When we send a pair of trowsers to our tailor to be reconstructed, and he finds $300 in the pocket and returns it, we always tell him to keep the trowsers for his honesty, which is the best policy.

LADIES, beware of your hair, for death lurks therein. A lady at Pine Valley, New York, was nearly choked to death recently by having her long hair become undone and twisted around her neck while asleep. A horrible sense of suffocation awakened her and thus her life was saved—Ex. Pine Valley must be in the backwoods. Civilized women hang their hair over the back of a chair at night.

A WRITER credits Tom Corwin with having replied, when asked what the enquirer should do to become great: "Young man, be serious. If I had been serious I might have been President; but now I am nobody but Corwin." The reply was more forcible as Corwin actually made it: Be a solemn ass. The world applauds the ringmaster, and laughs at the clown.—Harper's Weekly.

DYSENTERY CHOLERA FEVER AGUE, COUGHS, COLDS.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S

(Ex Army Medical Staff.)

CHLORODYNE

IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr J COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly the inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's.—See Times, July, 12, 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it at all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE the best remedy known for coughs, consumption, bronchitis, asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—diphtheria, fever, croup, ague.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in diarrhœa, and is the only specific in cholera and dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of epilepsy, hysteria, palpitations and spasms.

EXTRACTS FROM MEDICAL OPINIONS.

The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport, that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in Cholera was CHLORODYNE. See Lancet, Dec. 31, 1864.

From A. Montgomery, Esq., late Inspector of Hospitals, Bombay.—"CHLORODYNE is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia, Asthma, and Dysentery. To it I fairly owe my restoration to health, after eighteen months' severe suffering, and when other remedies had failed."

Dr. Lowe, Medical Missionary in India, reports (December, 1865) that in nearly every case of Cholera in which Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE was administered, the patient recovered.

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera.—"So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases."

See leading article, Pharmaceutical Journal, Aug. 1, 1860, which states that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the inventor of Chlorodyne; that it is always right to use his preparation when Chlorodyne is ordered.

CAUTION.—None genuine without the words "DR J. COLLIS BROWNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

WHAT ARE THEY GOING TO DO ABOUT IT?

The City Council will meet this evening for the transaction of business of more than ordinary importance; for it is said that a bylaw will be introduced to confer upon manufacturers certain privileges. Bonuses, it is reported, will be proposed for the establishment of industries not now represented here, and franchises will be added which, it is hoped, will prove sufficiently tempting to induce the holders of capital to embark in some of the many enterprises that may be profitably introduced. A nobler object could not occupy the attention of the Council than this. All who have witnessed the steady drain of gold for many years past to pay for goods which should have been made in the province, must cordially sympathize with a movement which seeks to produce results that cannot fail to prove beneficial to the country at large. There are streets sufficient to meet the requirements of a much larger population than ours. The forethought of former Councils provided them. The sidewalks could not be in better condition, and the water supply, although not yet perfect, is gradually getting better. Now, if no new streets are required, and if some councillor possessing pluck and wisdom and sufficiently indifferent to the clamors of consumers, would introduce a scheme for making the waters works self sustaining,—that is, if the consumers of water were made to pay an equitable rate in accordance with the quantity they use; and if unoccupied lots were placed on the same footing as lots that are covered by houses, a very large proportion of this year's revenue—perhaps $15,000—would be set loose immediately for the encouragement of manufacturing pursuits. With a near market, cheap fuel, plenty of water, a free gift of land, freedom from taxation, a money subsidy and other advantages which in their wisdom the Council might suggest, there would be no lack of enterprising men with capital to embark in manufactures of every description. It is now or never with Victoria. By a reformation in her steamboat arrangements she will maintain her commercial supremacy; and by an exhibition of liberality and public spirit on the part of her city councillors she will continue, as she has begun, the manufacturing centre of the province. It only needs encouragement, when half-a-dozen enterprises of a beneficial character will spring almost at once into life, giving employment to idle capital and idle hands, and retaining within the limits of the province the many thousands of dollars which are now annually sent abroad to buy manufactured articles, the raw material for which is grown here and is either suffered to go to waste or is sold at a ruinous rate to speculators and exporters. Let the councillors strike and strike boldly. They will be sustained by their fellow-citizens.

A DAILY MAIL.

All through the late session of the Ottawa House we vainly scanned the reports of the proceedings for proof that the wants of British Columbia in the matter of more frequent mail communication were being attended to. That important matter would seem to have dropped entirely from the minds of our representatives; for, so far as can be learned, not a word was uttered on the subject. A perfectly feasible plan, allowed to fail for need of pushing. A want long keenly felt, suffered to pass unexplained to a friendly ministry. Few people, perhaps, are aware that a mail for British Columbia is brought every day to Port Townsend, distant only 45 miles from this port, and that they are there stored until the steamer arrives from Victoria twice in each week to bring them across the narrow stretch of water called the Straits. A very small addition to the subsidy now paid for a service by way of the ocean would secure a daily mail carriage to and from Victoria by way of Puget Sound. The Dominion government save in the difference between the present and the former ocean mail contract about $37,000 per annum. Why should they not appropriate a moiety of that large sum for the improvement of the Sound mail service to Victoria? The Island representatives would appear to have wasted the session in babbling about matters in which their constituents have no concernment, while they allow the opportunity of pressing really useful measures upon the notice of the government. Next to the Island railway in importance should be classed the scheme for a daily mail. We have not the slightest hesitation in saying that the Island representatives in the Commons have failed in their duty in this respect.

THE PEACE WITH THE BOERS.

GLADSTONE may be in his dotage; but Great Britain is not. He has assented to an ignominious peace with the Boers; and his country finds it difficult to restrain popular indignation at that unhappy termination of the negotiations. In the face of three successive defeats, and before the body of one of the bravest of British generals had grown cold, the British government made peace with a few thousand rebellious subjects and sacrificed the interests of the few who stood loyally by the government during the grave crisis. The mistake may prove disastrous to British rule in South Africa if every petty native king who may imagine himself aggrieved should declare his independence and engage in open hostilities against the British. Upon the basis on which the Boers have made peace every foot of land now held by the British in South Africa should be handed back to the tribes that originally owned it. Once let the impression that the British would rather pay than fight fix itself in the savage mind, and the unhappy effect of the recent peace will be more widely understood.

The Cariboo Election--Reid's Majority Seventy-Six.

[Special to The Colonist.]

BARKERVILLE, April 5.

Last week on Jack of Clubs Creek the Brothers Co. were not on pay. The Sisters Co. washed only two days and took out eight oz. The Central Co. took out over expenses. On Snowshoe the Rawley and Snowshoe claims are working, but results not known. The hydraulic claims on William Creek are busy preparing for the summer's work. On Lightning Creek the Van Winkle claim has changed hands for fifteen hundred dollars.

The recent very interesting election is now virtually at an end. All the polling stations have been heard from and the following is the result in the aggregate:—Reid, 179; Monroe, 103; Greig, 62; Ball, 78. Majority for Reid, 76

Ice Jams--Weather--Farming.

[Special to The Colonist.]

SODA CREEK, April 5th.

There is a big ice jam at the steamboat ways above Alexandria. The steamer is reported off some of the blocks. Considerable ice has lodged on the river banks here owing to a jam in the cañon below but no damage has been done.

Weather mild with light, warm showers. Farming operations in full blast.

AN EQUINOCTIAL.—The blow yesterday was quite near enough to the vernal equinox for that fact in physical geography to get the credit of it. It is a moot question as to whether the sun passing an imaginary line, or the moon in its various changes, affects the weather, but when storms occur, as is very likely about the time of a change in the moon or at the vernal, and particularly at the autumnal equinox, weather prognosticators are full of "I told you so's" and "I knew it was coming," Be all this as it may, yesterday's high wind on the dry and dusty streets was about as disagreeable a change as could well be imagined. Windows and doors had to be kept closed. Talking at street corners was impracticable, or at the risk of being choked with a cloud of dust. It made but little difference as to the color of men's coats—they were speedily transformed into the exact hue of the dust cloud that swept with velocity along every street running from east to west. A good many enquiries were made as to what had become of the street-sprinkler, and although numerous jets of Elk Lake water were turned on they were about as effectual in keeping down the ubiquitous dust as Mother Partington was in her celebrated attempt on the surges of the Atlantic. But there ought not to be any complaining, for more glorious spring weather than that of the last two or three weeks could scarcely be imagined.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE LECTURES.—On Friday evening next M. W. T. Drake, Esq., will deliver a lecture on "Sir Walter Raleigh and his Times" at 8 o'clock p.m. in Philharmonic Hall. From the well known ability of the lecturer and the interesting subject chosen it may certainly be asserted that the hall will be crowded and that the lecture will be interesting and instructive. Rev. R. H. Smith, Bishop Cridge, Archdeacon Mason, Mr. W. K. Bull and others will follow; the subjects will be announced in due course.

THE FLYING SQUADRON.—Peace having been made in South Africa speculations are rife as to the future movements of the Flying Squadron. The United Service Gazette appears to think that the ships forming the squadron are required for service in European waters, in which case the visit of the youthful princes to this part of Her Majesty's dominions must be indefinitely postponed.

EAST COAST SERVICE.—The steamer W. G. Hunt sailed at 10 yesterday morning for Nanaimo. We hear that she will make semi-weekly trips during the summer between this port and Nanaimo. The Maude will connect with the Hunt at Nanaimo and make two trips a week to New Westminster, carrying coal and such other freight as may offer.

THE CZAR A POSSIBLE HEIR TO THE ENGLISH THRONE.—The Cuckoo says the Czar of Russia is a lineal descendant of the Princess Sophia, mother of George the First. Therefore, under the Act of Settlement, with a reservation as to religion, he is entitled, better heirs failing, to succeed to the throne of Great Britain.

FUN IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

Over Canada's Wooden Walls.

On the item to cover expenses connected with bringing out the screw corvette Charybdis $10,000,

Sir John Macdonald, in reply to Sir Richard Cartwright, said this was the first vote asked on this account, and the Finance Minister hoped to reduce it to $5000, as it would be more economical to sail the vessel across from England in the summer and man her here than to engage a staff of engineers in the old country.

Mr. Mills—Scuttle her.

Sir Richard Cartwright asked if this was to be the flagship of the fleet (laughter).

Sir John Macdonald said it was to be used as a training ship for boys.

Mr. Mills—How many guns has she?

Sir John Macdonald—I don't think she has any (laughter).

Sir Richard Cartwright asked how many boys were to be put on board this ship, and how much a training school would cost. In England these training ships were used as schools of correction and training for unfortunate lads found in slums of large cities. He presumed the leader of the Government did not propose to make a training ship on this plan—that this training would be for a different class of people. But no estimate had been given of the work to be done and of the cost of it.

Sir John Macdonald said it was not intended to make this a training school for young castaways, but for those who wished to learn the naval profession. Before the attempt was made to establish this training school Parliament would be fully advised as to the scheme and cost of it.

Mr. Mackenzie—Has the leader of the Government taken care to assure the United States of our pacific intentions? (Laughter.)

Sir John Macdonald—No; our attentions are confined to the Atlantic. (Renewed laughter.)

Mr. Mackenzie—I wish they were.

Mr. Charlton suggested that the ship should be rechristened the Flying Dutchman, a Lord High Admiral should be appointed, and he would ask the members of the Ministry to take a trip to China. This was merely a suggestion he wished to throw out.

Sir John Macdonald said the hon. gentleman was wrong in his lore. The Flying Dutchman was a vessel destined to beat about the Cape of Good Hope to the end of time. This vessel had rounded the Cape, and would not be a Flying Dutchman but a stationary Englishman. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Charlton replied that the Flying Dutchman was a phantom ship and he believed it would not be very long after this vessel got to sea before she would be little more than a phantom. (Cheers and laughter.)

Sir Richard Cartwright said if the leader of the Government desired to make a trip in this vessel to see his constituents there could be no objection. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Anglin pointed out that great expense would be required to fit this vessel for the work she had to do, and thought the Government should give some idea of the amount to be spent.

Mr. Killam asked how old this vessel was.

Sir John Macdonald—I really do not know. I never examined her teeth. (Laughter.)

Pandora Street Presbyterian Church.

On Sunday evening the managers of this church were formally notified by Rev. John Reid, the pastor, that he was desirous of returning to England immediately. It is understood that Mr. Reid has received a call from his former congregation in Manchester and that a large and influential congregation at San Francisco is also anxious to secure him as pastor. The managers, who, it is said, were quite unprepared for the notice, will probably extend a call to Mr. Reid's son, who is now preaching at Port Townsend, where the presbytery met yesterday.

Telephone to the Dockyard.

Yesterday Superintendent McMicking connected H. M. dockyard with the telephone system of this city and Esquimalt and messages passed briskly over the wires. The connection will effect a great saving to the authorities at the yard, as well as to the public who have business to transact here by preventing many unnecessary trips between the city and Esquimalt.

TUNING AND REPAIRING.—Mr. A. L. Francis, tuner of pianos, organs and all kinds of musical instruments, is again in Victoria and will be happy to wait upon all who may require his services. Every description of musical instrument repaired. Orders may be left at M. W. Wait & Co.'s, Government street. *

SWINGING SIGNS.—Is there not a municipal bylaw which forbids the erection of swinging signs? If there is not there should be. So many accidents have resulted from their adoption in towns and cities elsewhere that their use has been forbidden. Yesterday during the prevalence of the high wind the swinging signs swayed to and fro wildly, seeming to threaten to visit every passer underneath with a cracked crown.

County Court.

[Before Sir M. B. Begbie C. J.]

TUESDAY, April 5.

The Court opened at 11 a. m.

Sluggett vs. John—Action for damages sustained by defendant's dogs killing plaintiff's sheep.

Verdict for plaintiff, $79.

Drake & Jackson for plaintiff; Mr. T. Davie for defendant.

McDonald vs. Baker & Son—Action to recover $28 for hay supplied.

Judgment for $8.12½ without costs.

Drake & Jackson for plaintiff; Davie & Pooley for defendants.

Billings vs Muir — Action to recover wages alleged to be due. Plaintiff was admitted to sue in forma pauperis, but after the case had proceeded for a short time, it became apparent that the plaintiff was in a state of intoxication and was nonsuited. Drake & Jackson for defendant.

Harris vs. Hayward.—Action to recover $23 on an alleged guarantee. The principal point in the controversy involved the question of validity of the "Creditor's Relief Act, 1880." Defendant also contended that the plaintiff was estopped from suing on account of having brought a previous action for the same demand in which judgment had been obtained and an appeal taken which was still undisposed of. Judgment reserved. Messrs. Drake & Jackson for plaintiff and Mr. T. Davie for defendant.

WEILER vs. C. F. Green—Action to recover $14 for goods sold and delivered. Plea, the Statute of Limitation. To avoid this plea the plaintiff gave in evidence a letter written by the defendant in 1877 expressing his hope to be able to satisfy the claim after getting in the fall crop. The Judge held that the letter did not contain a sufficient acknowledgment to take the case out of the statute. Plaintiff was therefore nonsuited.

E. M. Johnson for plaintiff and Mr. T. Davie for defendant.

Several other minor cases were disposed of and the Court adjourned till tomorrow (Thursday.)

Marine.

The steamship Barnard Castle arrived in Royal Roads yesterday morning, took on board Pilot Clements and proceeded to Departure Bay for her second cargo of Wellington coal.

At the present time there are five barques in the harbor, namely: the Lady Head and Odulia, almost discharged, the Lizzie Iredale and Signet, both nearly ready for sea after undergoing repairs, and the Pasithea, just arrived. Two are iron vessels, two wooden and one is iron frame with teak planking.

Hatches were removed on board the barque Pasithea yesterday afternoon when freight was found to be dry and in as good order as when put in.

Freight on the Odulia is slightly damaged; but considering the terrible passage out it is in wonderfully good condition. She will be discharged to-morrow.

New paint is fast removing the weather beaten appearance of the Odulia. Workmen are busy painting her from the water's edge up to her bulwarks.

Barque Pasithea will commence discharging cargo at Welch, Rithet & Co.'s wharf to-morrow.

THE GOVERNORSHIP. — The Toronto Globe of the 21st ult. refers to Senator Macdonald as probably the next occupant of Government House in British Columbia. Mr. Macdonald would make an excellent governor, having the means and the ability to discharge the duties appertaining to the position creditably.

SUMMONED.—McDowell, whose runaway horse was the cause of fracturing the thigh of Mr. Selleck's little boy on Monday last, and another expressman, have been summoned under the municipal bylaw for leaving their horses unfastened. The cases will be heard this morning in the police court.

THE CABLE TANK.—This tank is finished and covered in alongside the custom house. Yesterday the seven or eight miles of old cable recently lifted between Lopez and Fidalgo Islands were unreeled from the Electron cable barge and will go into the tank on the top some new cable to be reserved for use when required.

CO-DELEGATE.—It is rumored that the local government will appoint Dr. A[illegible]h, who sails by the next steamer for England via Ottawa, co-delegate with Mr. DeCosmos to London to present the petition by the province in the Island railway matter.

THE NEW FRONT.—The new postoffice has begun to assume striking[illegible] beautiful proportions. The style of architecture is the Eastlake and the building when completed will be one of the handsomest on the coast.

RUSSELL BLOCK.—[illegible] Teague invites tenders for the construction of Russell Block in brick on the S.W. corner of Government and Johnson streets until the 14th inst.

HOOLEY'S MINSTRELS. — This famous company of performers are really coming north. They have engaged Theater Royal for four nights, commencing on the 25th inst.

JUDGMENTS in the case Hudson Bay Co. and [illegible]ners vs. Oppenheimer Brothers, will be delivered by the Chief Justice and the three puisne judges at noon to-day in the Supreme Court.

IN the case of the Eastman child, whose femur was fractured, and of the Selleck child who met with a similar accident, the broken limbs were set by Dr. Davie.

One of Louis Napoleon's Blunders.

[From the New York World.]

The death of M. Drouyn de Lhuys, reported by cable a few days ago, recalls an incident in the career of that statesman, who, though he was so impressed with the justice of the Monroe doctrine as expounded by Mr. Seward that he counseled the withdrawal of the French army from the support of Maximilian in Mexico, was astute enough to see how Bismarck's designs to form the German empire could have been frustrated. Every one knows how in 1865 Louis Napoleon, out of sentiment or some other motive inexplicable to his ministers, appeared to think more of the enfranchisement of Venice than he did of the importance of France in European affairs. Bismarck, after those famous interviews at Biarritz, in October, 1865, when Napoleon would pinch Merimee's arm and whisper, "He is crazy," clearly saw what was in Napoleon's mind as to Italy. Bismarck at once set himself to pick a quarrel with Austria and beat her before the French were awake to the situation, knowing full well that the French thought that the Austrian veterans would easily defeat the untried troops of Prussia. Napoleon unconsciously rendered him eminent services during the preliminary period when he had so much to do to force Austria into the war and to make King William and the people take kindly to the idea of fighting. In his speech at Auxerre, May 6, 1866, the emperor declared his detestation of the treaties of 1815, and though he proposed a congress a few days later, Gortschakoff "rescued Prussia from the congress" (to use M. d'Usedom's happy phrase) by the discovery that such a congress could lead to nothing practical with the reservations Austria wished to bring to it. On the 11th of June Napoleon wrote M. Drouyn de Lhuys that singular letter in which Drouyn de Lhuys said that "the geographical position of Prussia is badly defined," and suggested a stronger and more homogeneous Prussia in the north to balance Russia, a catholic Austria maintaining its great position in Germany and obtaining Silesia in exchange for Venetia, given to Italy—in fact, in which he proposed to please everybody and establish the ascendency of France by moral force only and without demanding any material advantages.

Everyone knows how Bismarck went into the war trusting to "the capriciousness of the all powerful God," facing the contingency that he might meet a second Olmutz and "resolved to return to Berlin via Vienna or Munich, or else to charge with the last squadron which will never return at all." He had his grounds for apprehension for the war was not popular with the public or the army, but four days later Sadowa had been won, and Napoleon was sadly aroused from his long humanitarian dream. Even in this crisis, however, Mr. Drouyn de Lhuys say clearly what could be done. On the morning of the 4th of July he warned the emperor that the consequences might be fatal to France, and that the Corps Legislatif should at once be summoned, an army of observation of 80,000 men (which Marshal Randon was ready to hurry forward) be collected on the Rhine and M. Benedetti be advised that France must cross it if Prussia's terms were such as to threaten the equilibrium of Europe. The emperor fell in with the suggestion, and the forms of the Moniteur were kept open all night awaiting the Imperial note, but after M. Drouyn de Lhuys had left him the emperor was visited by M. de la Valette and M. Rouhner, who induced him to change his mind and refuse to enter upon any role except that of a pacific mediator. M. Rouhner's argument, which proved effective, was that after the collapse of the Mexican expedition France could not depend upon her army, though the late Duke of Gramont then minister to Vienna wrote urgently, "Prussia is victorious, but exhausted. Between the Rhine and Berlin there are not 15,000 men. You can rule the situation by a simple military demonstration, and this in all security, for Prussia is incapable now of entering on a war with France. Do not offer her more than she asks." Four years later Bismarck said: "In 1866 Napoleon had not the courage to take what in his position he was entitled to take. He might have—at that time he should have—laid hold of what was the subject matter of the Benedetti proposal (Belgium) and held it provisionally as a guarantee for what might happen. We could not then have prevented him. But he was and is a Tiefenbacher." And in his reichstag speech of 1874 Bismarck said that with a small body of troops on the Rhine France could have made Prussia abandon Austria and cover Berlin as a prime necessity.

Jews at School.

One-half of the 100 boys picked from the New York grammar schools, to whom medals were given at the raising of the obelisk, were of German extraction, and one-third were of Jewish birth. One-third of the prize-takers in the New York normal school are also Jews, and yet neither in the normal nor the grammar schools are the Jewish children over one-fiftieth of the whole. It would be interesting to know, however, before basing too much on these facts, whether Jewish families of training do not patronize public schools more than like families who are not Jews. In other words, whether the children from families with an intellectual past, which in other cases are sent to private schools, are not in the case of Jews sent to school at the public expense. Jewish boys and girls are scarcely as common at our colleges and preparatory schools as one would expect from the well-to-do circumstances of Jewish families. In after life Jews certainly do not make the headway here they do abroad. The Congress at Washington, for instance, is the only great national legislature which has in it no conspicuous Jew. — Springfield Republican.

"Here's a letter," said Pat Maloney yesterday, "from the gurrl, and would ye please be readin' it to me wid yer ize shut, that ye can't be a learnin' my secrets."

Eastern Canada Mail.

[Per Steamship Idaho.]

HALIFAX, March 17.—The house of William Clevecy, at Faulkland Bridge, Annapolis county, was burned to the ground with all its contents. His youngest child, an infant of eighteen months old, perished in the flames. Mr. Clevecy and his wife had gone to a neighbour's for a short time, leaving their three children in the house. When the parents returned they found the house in flames. The two eldest children, one five and the other three, were safe, but their grief and horror knew no bounds on finding that their baby, whom they had left quietly sleeping in its cradle, was in the burning building, and beyond hope of rescue.

HALIFAX, March 17.—In the House of Assembly to day the Provincial Secretary introduced a Bill providing for an annual grant of $1,400 to each of the denominational colleges throughout the Province and the abolition of the University of Halifax. When the latter institution was founded five years ago by an Act of the Legislature it was provided that all grants should cease to denominational colleges at the end of five years, but the pressure from the denominational bodies now seems so strong that the government can't resist it. The question is likely to create much discussion in this province. Five or six educational institutions under the control of religious bodies, some of them apparently for no other purpose than training ministers, receiving grants from the public treasury, is most distasteful to a large section of the taxpayers.

An effort will be made in the local legislature also this session to give colored children in this city the right to attend any public school. They have had schools of their own up to the present time.

Tidings of Stanley.

[Philadelphia Press.]

GABOON, Dec. 17.—Count de Braya, an Italian explorer, arrived here yesterday from the Congo River. He went up the Ogowe River as far as he could get in a canoe, thence overland, six days' journey, to the Congo, down the Congo to the sea, and so here by steamer, thus making a complete circuit. The point at which he reached the Congo was five days' journey inland from Stanley Pool. Coming down the river he met Stanley and his party twenty-five miles inland from a place called Ayedi. He staid with them one day. Stanley's party were in a mountainous country and obliged to travel overland, for the river was full of rapids. Their progress was slow. There were no provisions to be had where they were. The men were eating rice and the donkeys corn and hay, all brought out from Europe. He reports one of the missionaries of the English Baptist Mission shot in the groin by the natives. The Count goes up the Ogowe again to-morrow to continue his explorations. He represents the country far up the Ogowe to be a table-land 2,400 feet above the sea, comparatively free from fever, and supporting a large and peaceful population. Somewhere in this fine country he has built a supply station, and has reserved one room in his house for the use of Rev. R.H. Nassau, M. D., of the American Mission, at present visiting in your city, who he hopes will take up his abode there and teach the people. The Count himself is looking remarkably well, in spite of his five years of travel and exposure.

The Loss of the "Revenge."

The last celebrated death-fight of the Revenge, commanded by Sir Richard Grenville, in the year 1591, when she held out for two days and a night against the attacks of 53 Spanish men-of-war, formed the subject of a stirring ballad by the poet laureate two years ago. The same event is brought prominently again before the public in a beautiful engraving, published by the Art Union of London, which is given to every subscriber to the annual drawing of that society this year. The engraving is well worth in itself the guinea which secures the other advantages of membership in the Art Union. It is after an original painting by Mr. Oswald Brierly, the engraver being Mr. Arthur Wilmore, and represents the little Revenge surrounded by her enemies, with all her masts gone, and lying a helpless wreck on the water. The Spanish admiral's barge is leaving his flagship to take on board the doughty British Lion, Sir Richard Grenville, who soon afterwards died of his wounds. Travellers to the West Indies pass very close to the Island of Flores, in the Azores, off which the action was fought and the event is described in Silver's West Indies Pocket-Book. As a work of art, representing one of the stirring scenes of English history of three hundred years ago—the echoes of which live to the present day, and serve to animate English enterprise now as they did then—the picture must have great interest to Englishmen all the world over.

THE following from London Truth strikes us as almost, if not quite, incredible:

"I happened to stroll into the Divorce Court whilst this Archdeacon Dunbar divorce case was proceeding. 'Where is the Archdeacon?' I asked; and I was shown two legs with an apron over them. The estimable Divine was taking his ease by lying under the desk before the judge with his lower man protruded beyond it. Having later on assumed a sitting position a relative, who, I suppose, wished to mark his disapproval, deliberately sat down upon him. The Archdeacon howled, and complained that he was being assaulted, but no one seemed to object."

China and Japan.

I cannot say that I like China as well as Japan. In spite of the marked superiority of the Chinese, in many respects, notably as traders and servants, their insufferably dirty cities, the wretchedness and degradation of their lower classes, and the moral rottenness which apparently pervades all strata of their society, make them compare unfavorably as a people with the rejuvenated inhabitants of Dai Nippon. In China one finds himself in the presence of a civilization which was old when Greece and Rome were born; which has, with extraordinary vitality, somehow extended its existence into the nineteenth century, but which, rotten with the weight of 4,000 years, is ready to fall to pieces at the slightest shock.

This sense of great age, of decadence run well nigh into putridity, is, at times, absolutely oppressive. One is almost tempted, at such moments, to hope for relief in some sudden interposition of Providence, like the deluge of old, by which this stupendous relic of the earliest ages, this accumulation of human vice and misery, this vast social and political structure, called the Chinese Empire, could be swept forever out of existence. China has lived too long. In Japan, on the other hand, a new civilization, modeled partly after that of the West, but still distinctively Japanese, has already arisen from the old, as the Latin nations of modern Europe out of ancient Rome; and one sees everywhere evidences of public spirit, enterprise and good government. I do not know whether this estimate of the relative condition of the two countries to-day is that of all travellers or not, but it certainly is the verdict of many besides myself.—*Shanghai Cor. I hereby certify that I have examined the Treasure's Accounts and found them to be correct and supported by the proper vouchers.
THOS. RUSSELL, Auditor.
Victoria, B. C., 9th March, 1881.

The Directors in making their Annual Report have to inform the Subscribers that during the past year they have succeeded in purchasing a plot of land of 5 acres immediately adjoining the Hospital, for the purpose of erecting an Asylum for Convalescents in connection with the Hospital. The Government have voted a sum of money for the erection of the necessary buildings; but before the works could be commenced the Government required the land to be conveyed to the Crown, which has been done. The coming spring will, it is hoped, see this most necessary adjunct to the institutions of the Province completed.

The Directors regret that the House of Assembly have passed a resolution completely reversing the policy under which the Hospital has been for so many years not unsuccessfully managed; hitherto the Government have been content with having two Directors on the Board, and as a rule these Government Directors have been active and useful members, and have fully answered the purposes for which they were placed on the Board.

The other Directors are the nominees of the Subscribers. The proposed change will be detrimental to the interests of those for whom a hospital is supported. The attention necessary to details takes up a great deal of time, and to suppose that work which is now performed efficiently by eight gentlemen will be equally as well performed by four is supposing too much, and the inevitable result will be a recurrence to the worst evils of the past. The interest which the public now take in the institution will, it is feared, greatly lessen, and the active and friendly assistance given by many will hardly be extended to a purely Government institution.

The Directors have again to express their thanks to Messrs. Dunsmuir and the Vancouver Coal Company for donations of coal and to various charitable societies and individuals who have generously contributed to the support of the institution.

The affairs of the Hospital have been economically managed, as will be seen by the amount of sufferings relieved and the Treasurer's account of the expenditure.

In closing this report the Directors regret that the change introduced by the Government will prevent them again offering their services, and from the applications which have been received for a return of subscriptions and the opinions expressed of the change, they fear that the closing of one of the most useful institutions of the Province will ultimately be the result.

There yet remains to be considered the question of the ownership of the property and the terms on which it was devoted to its present use, and how far the present changes will affect it. On this subject the Directors are not yet in a position to give an opinion.

March, 1881.

To the Board of Directors Royal Hospital:

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honor to submit for your information the following statement of the result of medical treatment of patients under my charge in Royal Hospital during the last year. The number of in-patients, as will be seen below, is less than last year, owing, in a great measure, to so many beds being occupied by incurables. The number of out-patients has greatly increased, as I have had to treat as out-patients many who would have been in-patients had there been vacant beds.

The number of In-patients admitted 1880.			82
do	Out-patients	do	200
Total			282

Of whom 10 have died from the following causes:—Lung Disease, 6; Heart Disease, 1; Paralysis, 1; Old Age and Exhaustion, 2. Total 10.

In conclusion I have to express my thanks to my professional brethren, who have always rendered me any assistance I was in need of; and I would wish to draw the attention of the Board of Directors to the admirable manner in which the Superintendent, Mr. Robinson, has conducted the internal affairs of the Hospital, showing all possible kindness and consideration for the patients compatible with the discipline necessary in a public institution.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen, your obedient servant,
J. B. MATTHEWS.

FOR THE LADIES.

MRS. S. A. HEBERT,

At Mrs. Jamieson's Fancy Goods Store, Fort street,

DEALER IN HUMAN HAIR,

Will remain only a short time. She has all varieties of

SWITCHES, BRAIDS, FRIZZES, CURLS, PUFFS, SARAGOTA WAVES, BON TONS, ETC.

Ladies having Combings or Cut Hair can now get them made up in first class style. Combings straightened and rooted. Old Switches cleansed, repaired and covered with long hair and colored any shade desired. She will take pleasure in proving to her customers the great improvement in the manufacture of combings into SWITCHES, CURLS, PUFFS, ETC. She feels sure that all the ladies, after once seeing and comparing the difference in the old and new process, will not hesitate at paying the trifling additional expense of having their hair made up clean and durable so that it may be handled, combed and curled the same as first class hair. A switch worth $3 without rooting, is worth from $7 to $10 when made by the new process. Ladies will now see the advantage of carefully saving the hair without twining it around the finger when taken from the brush or comb.

All kinds of hair jewdry braided and mounted to order. Instruction given in hairwork. mh27
